CENTRE COLLEGE
New Faculty Orientation Sessions
2018 - 2019

Practical Issues

September 18, 4:00 pm, Evans Lively

Questions about process and expectations are bound to have arisen as you adjust to teaching at Centre College. This session provides an opportunity to ask those questions.

This session is required for all first-year faculty.

Anticipating CentreTerm

October 16, 11:20 am, Ewen Room

Designed for first-time instructors of CentreTerm courses, the purpose of this luncheon is to help you anticipate the rewards and challenges of CentreTerm. Seasoned instructors of CentreTerm courses will join us to share their insights and experiences, and to answer your questions.

This session is required for all first-year faculty who will be teaching during the 2019 CentreTerm.

Evaluation Process

November 13, 11:20 am, Ewen Room

Please join our division chairs for lunch. Your division chair will be available to chat about your first term, provide an overview of the evaluation process, answer any questions you may have, and provide guidance on completing your first Faculty Activity Summary.

This session is required for all first-year faculty.

Supporting Diversity and Inclusion

February 5, 4:00 pm, Evans Lively

Centre College aims to value and support all members of our campus community. This session will provide more information about teaching through the lens of diversity and inclusion.

This session is required for all first-year faculty.

Student Advising

March 5, 4:00 pm, Evans Lively

Student advising is an important part of a faculty member's responsibilities. Our Assistant Dean of Advising and College Registrar will join us to discuss the value and process of advising. You'll learn how to navigate CentreNet's advising portal as well as practical approaches to advising students.

This session is required for all first-year faculty who will be advising students.

Thorny Teaching Issues

April 2, 4:00 pm, Evans Lively

All faculty face thorny teaching issues. We'll share our teaching challenges and support one another as we reflect on our first-year teaching at Centre College.

This session is required for all first-year faculty.
