

Faculty Learning Communities 2013 - 2014

Contemplative Pedagogy. This Learning Community will be a forum for faculty members who are new to contemplative pedagogy and want to learn about it -- as well as a place for faculty who are already using contemplative pedagogy and would like to reflect on what worked well (or perhaps not so well) in the classroom.

Teaching is Story-Telling. This Learning Community will explore the story-element of our teaching with the goal of each participant refining the approach and ability to share the tales of their respective discipline.

Reading Circle: This Learning Community will be reading and discussing the book "Using Reflection and Metacognition to Improve Student Learning", Kaplan, Silver, Lavaque-Manty and Meizlish, editors.
