

Moodle Methods

New option for emailing your class.

Moodle has a new module called Quickmail, and when added as a block to your Moodle course page, can quickly help you compose an email to one or all members of the course.

To get started, you need to turn editing on in your course. Then click Add a block. Choose Quickmail from the list of available blocks; this will add the Quickmail block to your page.

Next, all you have to do is click Compose New Email, select the recipients, and compose the message.
